Dear MA/Credential Students,

As you continue your classroom observations or embark on them next week, the supervisors and I wanted to send you an observation guide to provide extra support in focusing your observation hours before Labor Day. This guide includes prompts to consider as you observe how rules and routines are established, how classroom community is built and how the room is set-up. We've also included some questions to help you to get to know the school and the people who work there, and most importantly, who the students are in the class. If you have already begun your observations, continue them using this guide (and your journal) to consider how much you have learned so far, other observations you can make, and ways you can become more involved in the class. I hope you all enjoy getting to know and interacting with students and your cooperating teacher during the next few weeks.
