“Fanon’s Children: Panthers, Crips, Bloods, and the Black Radical Tradition”

Professor Barganier’s scholarly work is grounded in the knowledge traditions of the Black masses. Their talk will be centered on a forthcoming book, Fanon's Children: Panthers, Crips, Bloods, and the Black Radical Tradition, which examines the violent, social production of race in Los Angeles and the impact of state repression on the Black Panther Party. Professor Barganier’s work examines the development of Black political consciousness amongst the Crips and Bloods street organizations and the ways in which their articulation of Blackness both internalizes and resists coloniality.

This event will follow current COVID19 protocols. Please review UCSC COVID Protocols. [slugstrong.ucsc.edu].

WEDNESDAY, November 17
12:00 P.M. to 1:15 P.M.

MCHENRY ROOM 0266