The UCSC Education Department and the Teachers of Color Research Group present:

Award-Winning CSU Monterey Bay Professor Emerita

Dr. Christine Sleeter

Critical Race Theory as a Lens for Diversifying the Teacher Work Force

Dr. Christine Sleeter will draw on her recent book, Diversifying the Teacher Workforce, co-edited with LaVonne Neal and Kevin Kumashiro, as well as additional work she has done in this area, to argue that the whiteness of the teaching force reflects various processes of ongoing white supremacy, that can be challenged. Her talk will examine: 1) research demonstrating the value of a diverse teaching force, 2) critical race theory as a lens for analyzing it, and 3) examples of practice challenging whiteness of the teaching force.
